

State of South Carolina
County of Greenville.

Personally Appeared George H. Pollard, who being duly sworn, made oath that he is the son of W. A. Pollard late of Greenville County; That deponent was made the executor of the estate of said W. A. Pollard by Judge of Probate for Greenville County; That deponent is perfectly familiar with the transaction between his father, W. A. Pollard, and Homer Goldsmith, in which a tract of land containing 24 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres was conveyed by said W. A. Pollard to said Homer Goldsmith; That said Homer Goldsmith gave his note and mortgage over the farm in the sum of \$1,750.00; That said Homer Goldsmith, after having held the farm for four years, found that he could not pay for it and reconveyed the farm to deponent's father; That said W. A. Pollard surrendered the note and mortgage previously given him by said Homer Goldsmith; That deponent is perfectly sure that there is no outstanding obligation from this source over the said 24 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres in Austin Township, which now forms a part of the tract of land owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander.
