

understood and agreed that any partner may individually exercise any of the powers herein granted to the partnership as a whole; provided however, that any such act by an individual partner must be consented to in writing by the remaining partners.

(Continued on next page)