

his own provisions for his family, for charitable uses, or for any other purpose, if the Trustees believe it to be to the best interests or for the well-being of him or his family to do so, or believe that no useful purpose would be served by the continued existence of the Trust, and the Trustees need not consider the interests of any other beneficiary or individual in so doing.

VII.

Upon the death of a named beneficiary, the Trustees shall distribute his portion of the Trust, as then constituted, to, or in trust for the benefit of, such person or persons, upon such conditions and estates, with such powers, in such manner, and at such time or times as such named beneficiary appoints and directs by will specifically referring to this power of appointment.

REG
(2)

QMM(4)

To the extent that any named beneficiary does not effectively exercise his power of appointment, the Trustees shall, upon his death, divide his portion of the Trust, as then constituted, into separate trusts, per stirpes, for his then living spouse and issue. In default of such spouse and issue, the said beneficiary's portion of the Trust shall remain a part of and be added to the Trust for the benefit of the then remaining beneficiaries.

VIII.

If the Trustees are directed in a preceding provision to distribute a share of trust principal to a beneficiary for whose primary benefit another trust is to be held under this instrument, when the distribution is to be made, the share shall be added to and commingled with the other trust and held as if it had been an

0507

2 JAN 8 1952