

her will ever be declared invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction or should a partial intestacy ever be declared in her estate;

(4) All powers granted to me as Trustee by my mother's will or by the laws of South Carolina or the United States and the power to participate in any decision concerning any aspect of the administration or any trust under my mother's will;

(5) The right to exercise or not to exercise any elections as provided in paragraph (8)(a) and (b) of my mother's will and the right to receive any interests in property that might be deemed to pass to me thereunder;

(6) The right to exercise any option to purchase the family home place known as Patewood as provided in paragraph (9) of my mother's will (and the right to join in any decision concerning the necessity for the sale or development of such property);

(7) All discretionary powers as executor to direct the enjoyment of the interests in my mother's estate that, but for this Instrument of Disclaimer, would have passed to me and all interests and all rights and discretionary powers as trustee that, but for this Instrument of Disclaimer, I might possess individually or as trustee of any trust created under my mother's will.

I declare that I have not received any benefit from my mother's estate or from any trust established under her will, that I have not exercised any power over the income or corpus of Trust A or Trust B or of the residual trusts, that I have neither exercised nor declined to exercise any election or option given me by my mother's will and that I have not received any consideration in
